

Image Case: Gastric Corpus Angiodysplasias in 61 years old Egyptian Man Presented by Dysphagia

Mohamad Refaey, Tarik Zaher

Department of Tropical Medicine, Faculty of Medicine, Zagazig University, Egypt

Corresponding Author
Tarik Zaher

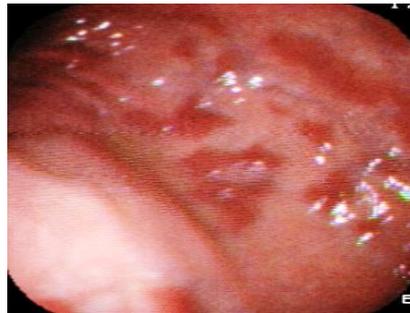

Upper gastrointestinal endoscopy of 61 years old Egyptian man presented by dysphagia revealed : normal esophageal mucosa without masses, ulcers nor stricture; just sliding hiatus hernia. On examination of the stomach there were extensive angiodysplasias of the corpus of the stomach as shown in figures (1) and (2).

Mobile:
+0201001855393

E mail:
tareqzaher@gmail.com

Key words:
Gastric; Angiodysplasias

Fig(1): Extensive angiodysplasias of the corpus of the stomach.

Fig(2): Extensive angiodysplasias of the corpus of the stomach.