

In the name of God, the Most Gracious, the Most Merciful;

And prayers and peace be upon Prophet Mohamed;

Dear Readers,

Welcome to the 119th issue of the peer-reviewed scientific Journal of the Faculty of Arts of Alexandria University.

I am pleased to announce the continuous development of our Journal, and the good news. The Journal of the Faculty of Arts has succeeded in achieving the standards for adopting the Arab Arcif impact factor and reference citations compatible with international standards, which numbered (23) standards, and the Journal's Arcif factor reached (0.0962) in the ninth Arcif report for the year 2024, in which (1201) Arab journals succeeded. The Journal was also classified in the field of comparative languages and literature out of a total number of (15) journals at the Arab level within the category (Q2); as shown in the following certificate:

Moreover, the Board of Directors has approved extending an invitation to researchers to publish their scientific experiments in the Journal in the form of video recordings, especially if their research includes illustrative visual recordings. These recordings will be displayed through a special YouTube channel that will be created especially for the Journal. These presentations will, of course, be peer-reviewed by experts and specialists in accordance with the Journal's publishing policy.

This form of publishing is considered one of the new and innovative methods of visual scientific communication that supports research and learning, and also helps increase the impact factor of researchers' work. The first initiative to publish research in the form of visual recordings took place in the JoVE journal<sup>1</sup>.
